

Fans in Brazil: We asked football fans in Brazil to talk about football, culture, the English language and the Premier League.

What's match day like in Brazil?

Transcript

Artur: Ah! It's big. It's like the whole preparation for the game everyone is... starving to the games begin... Just a big event that happens.

Victor: An important game on a Sunday for example, it's typical to go to the beach discuss a lot about the game... Having some beers and then after lunch going to the Maracana its tradition,

Fernando: Well, full of excitement... I mean, people look forward to going to the match and... And everything that is associated with it, even before the match, during the match, after the match.

Andre: Everybody starts yelling for the players and they sing like songs and stuff like that.

Patricia: Well, they get together... Go to bars to drink... Watch the match together. It's very cheerful, lively.

Caio: I guess it's a special day for... On a classic.

Aloisio: A match day for the national team is just like a vacation or a holidays, you know. Everybody stops to see and to... to support the national team.

Joao: We are all excited with a game, especially when it's important game and when it's your team, of course.
